Waimea man arrested for violating terms and conditions of parole

LĪHU'E – Kaua'i police arrested 43-year-old Clayton Kona of Waimea on Monday for Violation of Terms and Conditions of Parole.

According to a preliminary report, on Sunday around 12:45 p.m., Kona threatened to kill members of his family at a residence in Hanapēpē before leaving the scene. Patrol officers responded but were unable to locate Kona.

Kaua'i Police Department Vice/Narcotics Section Officers were able to locate and arrest Kona, who was attempting to catch a flight to O'ahu the following day at the Līhu'e Airport.

Kona has been arrested a total of 37 times, 22 of which have led to convictions that include felonies, as well as one felony case that is currently pending. The various crimes he has been arrested for include Murder in the Second Degree, in which case he was convicted of Hindering Prosecution, multiple Firearms-related crimes, Drug-related crimes, Contempt of Court, Family Abuse, Driving Under the Influence, Excessive Speed, Resisting an Order to Stop, and Harassment.

He is being held on a warrant issued by the Hawai'i Paroling Authority at the Kaua'i Community Correctional Center.

Clayton Kona.
